

SHORT COM FILM FESTIVAL 2021

OCT 28-NOV 4

GET THE F**K IN

Welcome to the shop of Short Com. Please find on display some of the finest pieces of work by artists from across the globe that will salivate all comedy palettes.

Despite the odds of people making any sort of film in the past 18-months or so, this years programme is something special.

We're delighted to be back to in-person screenings to see audiences enjoy these films in the best way they can in the nations capitals in London and Edinburgh. From super silly; outlandish, absurd, deadpan, and dark to films that also carry a poignant message. Big productions to perfectly executed ideas filmed in a single constrained location. Shorts that have been selected at the most prestigious film festivals. We have a truly world-class line-up of films from really exciting talent from across the globe.

This year's programme features a fine blend of emerging comedy faces with world-class acting talent. It's always been a delight to see filmmakers we've championed for years progress to bigger and more ambitious projects. No more so than Big Red Button who have repeatedly always managed to consistently make great short after great short. And we're super thrilled to be screening Don Vs Lightning, featuring world-class acting talent in Peter Mullan and Joanna Scanlan.

We were delighted to become a BIFA qualifying film festival earlier this year. A lovely badge of honour that marks the progress of Short Com over the years for recognising domestic talent. But we are just as proud and excited for programming shorts from across the globe. And this year we have a dedicated programme to our Scandinavian cousins in Our Friends From The North.

As always, Short Com is not possible without the kind help from its volunteers and supporters. Peter Carson; Lee Hamilton and Chris Townsend. As well as our sponsors and partners Festival Formula, Final Draft and Greenlit. And above all, you the audience.
